

Performance assessment

Behaviours: ethical or not?

A supervisor is talking with another supervisor about her student. There are people around who can hear the conversation.

Patricia: Well... I just finished writing a mid-placement assessment. It's my first time assessing a student. I didn't quite know how to go about it... I hope he won't be surprised with his poor grade.

Mylène: I didn't even know you had a student. But, did you inform him about how you would proceed?

Patricia: Well, it seems to me that when you get three C's in a row for your general performance, at the end of the day, it's clear that it is not going well!
